2. Strong leaders provide teachers with pathways to success.
3. Leaders are teachers and teachers are leaders.
4. Learning is life’s work.

Vision

NASA is a premier professional development organization serving all educators in Nevada and beyond to learn and lead.

Mission

The mission is to provide all educators in Nevada and beyond with high quality, timely, critical, and empowering professional development designed to impact student outcomes, support leadership and instructional improvement, and provide services to support their work.

NASA’s Center for Educational Excellence Institute (CEEI) VII

Previously approved state funds allowed the Nevada Association of School Administrators (NASA) to develop an institute within the organization dedicated solely to high-quality leadership development. The Center for Educational Excellence Institute (CEEI) represents a focus on excellent professional development for all stakeholders. The attendees of the CEEI sessions included strategists, facilitators and teacher-leaders, coordinators, directors, site-level administrators, and central office administrators. CEEI was comprised of presenters who were National experts; Nevada Department of Education experts; NASA board members; state, local and district leaders; and presenters who have relevant work experiences.

With the approval of state funds, NASA will provide the CEEI in a virtual format. The virtual format will be available for any educator, in any position, especially those aspiring to, or even just thinking about new leadership roles and responsibilities. Any educator, from a first-year teacher to a veteran superintendent, will be able to attend the CEEI VII. The theme for the CEEI VII will be “The Importance of Adaptive Leadership.”

Over the past two years, student learning was provided in both virtual and hybrid formats due to COVID-19. As a result, we recognize the impact that such learning has had on students, as well as, teachers, and administrators. The CEEI VII will not only address Social Emotional Learning and Academic Competency-Based Education; but include a content focused on educational equity and the characteristics of adaptive leadership.

Change and challenge are constants in education, as witnessed due to the impact of the COVID-19 climate. Educational leaders must be agile and ready for anything, and they must have the mindset and traits of adaptive leadership skills, and characteristics that are critical to lead through change. The CEEI VII will provide participants the opportunity to examine and explore traits of adaptive leadership; culturally responsive behaviors, beliefs, and attitudes that will enable them to increase their understanding of social empowerment concepts of cultural sensitivity, the intersection of cultures in the global classroom and school setting, as well as provide multiple perspectives and best practices for educating students from various diverse backgrounds such as, but not limited to race, gender, gender expression- identities, ethnicity, sexual orientation, language and linguistics, ability, national origin, or citizenship status.

During CEEI III, IV, V, and VI, the Nevada Department of Education team provided Social and Emotional Learning professional learning, which provided valuable relevant information to address successful student outcomes. The Nevada Department of Education (NDE) will continue its focus on Social, Emotional, and Academic Development (SEAD); therefore, the State Department experts, through the CEEI, will continue to integrate SEAD with a student-centered competency-based educational approach as a reminder of the need for equitable learning and decision-making to benefit every student. Such critical information forms the backdrop of all learning for the CEEI VII.

The CEEI VII will begin on Saturday, October 15, 2022, and conclude on Thursday, February 2, 2023. Participants will receive a total of six (6) credits during the CEEI VII. The CEEI is modeled after highly effective superintendent/leadership academies throughout the United States. The CEEI VII will focus on the essentials of leadership necessary for optimal success in schools, districts, and organizations alike. Participants will receive rigorous and current relevant research-based practices. Core competencies will be addressed, giving participants the opportunity to reflect, disseminate research-based knowledge related to effective educational leadership behaviors and skills. Principles of Culturally Responsive Leadership behaviors with a focus on excellence in equity will be the driving force for the CEEI VII as well as the continued focus on Social-emotional Learning Competencies.

All presentations will be provided virtually with sensitivity to accommodations required by participants. NASA will utilize closed captions for all CEEI VII sessions.

Scope of Work for the CEEI VII Sessions

This section includes information with regards to the presentation description overview, presenters, and the objectives to be met.

NASA believes is it best practice to engage both school and district administrators as Session Leaders. With the approval of grant requested funds, NASA expects to engage three (3) Session Leaders. - Collaborating with their designated presenter(s);
- Attending their assigned session(s);
- Monitoring reflective assignments provided to their designated cohort;
- Providing quality mentoring to participants to ensure assignments are understood; and,
- Guiding participants' successful outcomes for all intended learning expectations.

To maintain consistency with Session Leaders and their cohorts, Dr. Greta Peay will provide a training/information session with Session Leaders prior to the beginning of the CEEI VII kick-off. An explanation and an overview of the expectations for successful outcomes for each participant, as listed below, will be the focus of the training/information session:

Expected Learning Outcomes

By the end of the CEEI VII, participants will be able to:
