HOW TO USE THIS INDEX

Over the past 6 years, the Department has supported numerous regulations across regulatory authorities. Effective August 27, 2026, many recently approved regulations have been encoded and are now reflected in the published Nevada Administrative Code, while others remain legally effective but are not yet reflected in the published NAC. These updates support a shared understanding and a clear and consistent regulatory landscape for education. To support accurate and current reference as the codification process continues, the Department has developed this index to provide details regarding each regulation that has been encoded, enacted, or is currently in draft status for easy reference to ensure accuracy and relevance when referencing administrative code.

Status	Meaning
Encoded	Encoded indicates a regulation that was encoded in NAC between July 1, 2026, and August 27, 2026, by the Legislative Counsel Bureau.
Enacted	Enacted indicates a regulation that is legally effective and approved by the Legislature as of September 1, 2026.
Drafting	Drafting indicates a regulation that is currently in development, pending regulatory workshop, regulatory hearing, or approval from the Legislative Commission. Please note that some regulations are still under revision.

Action	Meaning
New	New indicates that the most recent action was to draft new language. If new language has been encoded, it will have a NAC citation included (i.e., 385.010). However, if the language has been enacted or is in draft, the citation is referred to as XXX (i.e., 385.XXX) to indicate that no section has been created or assigned. If a section is new, the title of the section has been approximated and is referenced in italics.
Amendments	Amendments indicate that the most recent action was to amend new or existing language.
Repealed	Repealed indicates that the most recent action was to repeal the language of the NAC section in its entirety. Please note there are several new or amended regulations which were encoded in the most recent NAC update that have already been repealed by the Legislature.

Key	Meaning
Reference	The hyperlink and reference number indicate a Legislative Counsel Bureau (LCB) File Number, Stylized as R001-26, sequentially numbering each file by order received as a three-digit number and the calendar year that the file number was issued. The hyperlink is to the Legislature's website and the most recent version of the regulation.
Multiple LCB Files	The LCB File numbers are listed sequentially, with the most recent file number listed topmost. Please note that the most recent version should be inclusive of all changes to date, and for accuracy should be consulted as the authority should the status be listed as encoded or enacted.
Draft Status and Multiple LCB Files	The topmost LCB File number will be the most recent draft of the regulation. However, it's possible that the most recent regulation revises language that has not yet been encoded; in this case, the second file should reflect the most recently encoded or enacted regulation, which may be referred to for authority consultation.
